Mayor Zollinger Presiding.

SATURDAY, NOV. 6.

There was not a drink.

There was not a wig.

There was not a single scallawag.

At the city temple of justice, this morning, unless a lady charged with having carried on the pawn-broking business without a license can be classed under one of those heads.

Mrs. Louisa Mariotte was the subject of a complaint, the accused being Marshal Diehl.

Evidence was produced to show that Mrs. Mariotte, through her son, had taken a revolver in pawn on the first day of November, and that her license had expired on the previous day. She was convicted of the offense and fined $3 and costs, $10 in all.

The books produced in court showed the establishment to have been run very loosely, several points in law having been disregarded. It was also shown that the license under which Mrs. Mariotte had been carrying on business was insufficient to entitle her to do so, as she had failed to give the necessary bonds.

Sage's Sagacity.

Under this head, the Huntington Democrat publishes the following: Wednesday evening of last week an official from Fort Wayne appeared in this place bringing with him papers for the arrest of one Noah Sage, as an accomplice of John Freely, the fellow who stole a value from the cars at Ft. Wayne, not long since, of which theft we have already made mention. Sage was taken to Ft. Wayne on the evening train, but was accompanied by G. W. Stults, who acted as his attorney, and on examination was proven not guilty of the charge preferred against him.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Postmaster General Maynard to-day received a private letter from Constantinople, bringing information that judgment had been delivered in the Ottoman case of central criminal court, in the case of the three men implicated in the murder of Rev. ## A DETROIT FAIRURE.

DETROIT, Nov. 5.—The Gray medicine company of this city, otherwise William Neill, has made an assignment. The liabilities are stated as $12,000; assets, $600. The liabilities are principally unpaid bills for advertising. The company was originally formed by Dr. W. R. Merwin, of this city, who sold out to John Lowden and William Neill, of Toronto, Ont., for $50,000, much of which was in cash and the remainder in notes, which Dr. Merwin had discounted. In August last Neill bought his partner's interest.

A BRIEF SKETCH

Of the Fort Wayne Methodist College.

An Institution for the Instruction of Young Ladies and Gentlemen.

THE SENTINEL of last evening contained a report of the splendid entertainment given on the previous night at the Fort Wayne Methodist College, by the Thelonian society, the article closing with the announcement that to-day's paper would contain a sketch of the working of the college itself. After the conclusion of the entertainment referred to, Prof. Yokum and Kibbe conducted a representative of the SENTINEL through the building, pointed out the features of interest, and furnished several facts and figures with reference to the workings of the excellent institution.

The college is under the care and direction of the Methodist Episcopal conference, and is conducted by the following excellent

FACULTY.

Rev. W. F. Yokum, A. M., president.

Prof. J. A. Kibbe, professor of Latin and Greek.

C. L. Clippinger, professor of Latin and Greek.

Prof. J. A. Kibbe, professor of normal instruction.

C. B. Stemen, M. D., instructor in physiology.

Rev. Addis Albrow, master of accounts, principal of the business college.

Lizzie C. Kable and J. L. Shearer, English and German.

Albert Joost, teacher of piano.

Mrs. W. F. Yokum, assistant instructor on piano.

Mrs. James Hanchette, teacher of oil painting.

J. M. Woolpert, teacher of telegraphy.

A. C. Gruber, assistant teacher.

The following gentlemen compose the board of trustees:

John M. Miller, esq., Rev. D. P. Hartman and C. S. Smith, M. D., Fort Wayne, Hon. J. I. Best, Waterloo, and Rev. R. D. Robinson, Indianapolis—term of office expires in 1880.

Hon. John H. Baker, Goshen; J. I. Metts, M. D., Ossian; Philip Harter, esq., Fort Wayne; Rev. D. Markley, Wabash, and Henry Burgess, esq., New Haven—term of office expires in 1881.

Rev. W. S. Birch, Warsaw; A. H. Polhamus and Geo. Brackenger, Fort Wayne; Joseph A. Funk, Warsaw, and Hon. Jesse Arnold, North Manchester—term of office expires in 1882.

The first term of the school year, closed on Thursday evening, and the second term will commence on Tuesday morning. Very few of the pupils from a distance have gone home, with the exception of those who have graduated and severed their connection with the institution.

The average number of pupils under instruction in the college, is 140, composed of about equal proportions of young ladies and gentlemen. The students are from all parts of Indiana, including several residents of Fort Wayne, and the college is never without representatives of many sister states.

The recitation rooms of the college are large, comfortably furnished and tastefully decorated. The students room, a place set apart for the free enjoyment of the pupils is also spacious and comfortable.

The telegraph room, music room, president's office, etc., are all well appointed, and supplied with everything necessary for the carrying out of the respective objects in view.

One of the rooms contains a fine congressional library of about 300 volumes, and there are six pianos and organs in the building.

The society hall, or the room of the Thelonian society, is a cheerful by-furnished apartment, containing a large and well selected library, and a piano.

This society has had a prosperous career. It is entirely independent of the college, and is a financial success, and is now almost clear of debt. The meetings of the society are held regularly, and the exercises are invariably of an interesting and instructive nature. The proceeds from public entertainments are devoted toward liquidating the debt.

One of the most pleasing features of the institution is the gymnasium class of young ladies, whose proficiency in drill is really wonderful.

All together, the Fort Wayne college is an excellent educational establishment, and merits the support of the public.

NOW THAT English law has laid its hand on Mr. Parrell's collar, the interesting question is when and how and for what reasons it will let go, and what will happen when it does let go.

LIKE the democrats of Allen county, the brethren in Marshall county crowded themselves with glory and redeemed themselves nobly and well. There are a few loyal counties in this state after all.

RELIGIOUS decrees were enforced in Paris yesterday against the Dominicans and other unauthorized communities. There were passive resistance and protests. Some of the sympathizers with ejected orders were arrested for insulting the police, poor fellows.

IT is said to be easier to raise ghosts, under certain conditions, than to lay them. However that may be, it is undoubtedly easier to raise inflammable issues in the municipal politics of such a city as New York than to get rid of them. And of all possible issues the religious issue is the most inflammable.

THE managers of the St. Louis Times have decided to suspend the publication of that paper. The paper has had a checkered career, and has not been a success since Silson Hutchins conducted it. There is a rumor that the franchise of the paper have been bought by the republicans.

RESTRICTING the production in coal, which extended into October, does not bring the companies much relief. By doing dead work on the idle days, and having everything in complete readiness to begin on the busy ones, the output is relatively much larger than when production is continued through all the days alike; large enough to keep prices too low for profits on fictitious capital.

THE senate of the United States will lose some of its most valuable members after the 4th of next March. Thurman, of Ohio, who has been the leader on the part of the democrats, will step down and out, and Wallace, of Pennsylvania, will give way to some of the Cameron clan. McDonald's place will be filled by Ben Harrison; Kernan, of New York, will be succeeded by, whomsoever Conkling may select; Eaton, of Connecticut, who has made an excellent record as a senator, will give way to a republican. All of these gentlemen are democrats, and are men of whom any party may feel proud.

CURRENT OPINION.

The People Have Chosen.
New York Express.
Sectionalism has triumphed once more. The democracy are defeated. The people have taken a bribe taker and perjurer and hypocrite for president in preference to a brave soldier, an able statesman, a high-minded man of unsullied fame. The party of fraud and corruption, which stole the presidency in 1876 by a series of the most gigantic crimes known to our history, by methods peculiarly its own and destructive to popular government, has now re-elected itself to power for another four years.

Garfield's Weight of Honor.
Cincinnati Gazette.

General Garfield must be the child of fortune. Never were so many political honors piled on one man's head in this republic. He is now representative in the house till next March, senator elect, and by the people's voice, president elect. If, under our constitution, anything more could be added probably it would drop on him.

The Real Presidents.
Logansport Pharos.

Grant is the great "I am" and Conkling the great "I be" of the late campaign. They will not only be rewarded but will rule the government for the next four years.

What and Who Did It.
New York Sun.

The sectional issue elected Garfield. Who made the sectional issue? Roscoe Conkling. Who emphasized and pressed that issue in the campaign? Roscoe Conkling and General Grant.

Were they zealous from the beginning? By no means. Their zeal was kindled suddenly, some time after the nomination at Chicago?

What is the explanation of this? Time will show. Undoubtedly such an arrangement was made as Conkling and Grant believed would increase Grant's chances for a third term.

We may look for the development of the plot in the future.

Will Not Disband.
Indianapolis Sentinel.

Some people are foolish enough to believe that the democratic party will disband. Such talk not only insults common sense, but is an intimation that virtue, truth, patriotism and love of constitutional liberty have departed, and that democrats have all become republicans.

WILL Emory A. Storrs or John A. Logan represent Illinois in the cabinet?

THERE is a good prospect of the next house being democratic, despite the republican yell to the contrary.

PHILP!

Another Letter Everybody Should Read, Even if the Election is Over.

It is not a Forgery, Either, But True, Every Word of It.

MENTOR, OHIO, Nov. 4, 1880.
MR. CHAM LUM, Chinatown, Nevada.

DEAR SIR:
I have denounced, as you have seen from the papers, the so-called Morey letter as a base forgery. But there is a matter of which I desire to write you. I have reliable information from Fort Wayne, Ind., that Foster Brothers, proprietors of the Great Department Store of that city, have just opened some extraordinary bargains in Dry Goods; among which is a case of fine French Printed Satins, with elegant side bands. These goods are a yard wide, cost 35 cents to import, and have been retailed in Chicago as high as 50 cents per yard during the present season. Foster Brothers are selling this lot of goods at 10 cents a yard—one-fifth of their value.

They have also just placed on sale a case of yard wide imported Momie Cloths, which were never landed in this country at less than 40 cents a yard, and have been retailed at 60 cents. They are selling them at 25 cents, less than half their value, and only the price of a common article of single width Dress Goods.

These two bargains are a good indication of the very low prices at which this well-known firm is selling Dry Goods, Carpets, Furniture, Sewing Machines, and Housekeeping Goods generally.

Very Respectfully Yours,
[d&w] JAMES A. GARFIELD.

A Merited Compliment.

THE SENTINEL recently contained an item highly commending Miss Carrie Johnson, of this city, as an elocutionist destined to become famous. To show that Miss Johnson's ability is recognized and appreciated elsewhere as well as here the following is copied from the Lagrange Democrat: Although we never had the pleasure of hearing Miss Carrie Johnson read, it is nevertheless gratifying to hear of her success in her chosen field of work; and we shall watch with more than friendly interest her career, which bids fair to be one of extraordinary brilliancy. As a pupil of Miss Helen Porter, she promises to do credit to her teacher. Fort Wayne may well be proud of Miss Johnson as an elocutionist, and is watching with pride and wonder her every step, now and sure up the rugged hill of fame to an honorable and well-merited destination. We can but say 'God speed.'

Rules for Sextons.

When fashionably dressed strangers visit the church, parade them up to the most conspicuous seats; they will be quite an ornament to the building; but plain or shabbily dressed persons should be taught to know better than to enter a fashionable church by being stowed away in some inconspicuous corner, (see James, 12) where he will not be an eye sore to the churchgoers. New lamps, new hand painted China, new cut glass, new gold band China, new decorated tea and dinner sets, new Majolica ware, new plated silver, new toilet ware, new complements of our three Talley Dogs, at Ward's new store on West Columbia street. Ward's Cheap Grocery Store.

SCORING A SCRIBE.

The Means Used by Sam. Chaska to Accomplish It.

What a Sentinel Reporter Saw at Chaska's.

"Good morning, Mr. Chaska," exclaimed a SENTINEL reporter, as he entered Chaska's notion store this morning and found the genial Sam buried in a maze of boxes and fancy goods. "Good morning, sir," came the reply, as Sam emerged and shook the scribe by the hand. After a few remarks regarding the weather, Mr. Chaska told the reporter that he wished to show him through the establishment, as he had just received a large invoice of fancy goods from the east. The scribe was ushered back to the rear of the store and there, sure enough, was piled high up boxes of fancy goods and notions of all kinds, which were being emptied and placed upon the shelves by a number of clerks, who were themselves astonished at the beauty and novelty of the goods they were handling. Among this recent addition to the stock are to be found some very desirable articles for holiday presents, and every man, woman and child in this city should call on Chaska, and purchase before this magnificent stock is entirely exhausted, but to those who will visit the store in the near future, a still greater surprise is in waiting. In the handsome show window is placed an elaborately attired young lady dressed in the height of the latest fashion, and surrounded by articles of Fancy Goods on every side and the figure is really so life like that were it not for its more than entirely beautiful, one might be led to suppose that the figure was human, but it is a waxen doll figure representing a young girl with rosy cheeks and blonde hair and is valued at $100. It is the finest and most lifelike figure of the kind, and Mr. Chaska, with his well known liberality has decided to present every one purchasing a dollar's worth of goods at his store with a ticket entitling the holder to a chance in the grand drawing of the doll which will take place soon and of which due notice will be given. Besides this, which any one would consider a sufficient inducement, he offers on the same terms a magnificent hobby horse, and this will undoubtedly capture the juvenile fancy. "Bargains in fancy goods are now to be secured," said Mr. Chaska, as the astonished reporter signified his intention of withdrawing "and you had better tell your readers so," as with a pleasant "good day," he opened the door and were gone.

THE RAILROADS.

Local, Personal and General News

To-morrow a new time-card comes into effect on the Dayton & Michigan.

A small narrow gauge engine built for the St. Joe railroad company, went west on the Pittsburgh yesterday.

Mr. George M. Pullman will probably be elected president of the construction company of the new Ontario & Western road.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean gives circulation to the report that the Lake Erie & Western road has been purchased by the Wabash company.

Geo. F. Shepard, esq., paymaster of the Wabash, after paying off the employees in Toledo, will remain there several days, making arrangements to move his family to St. Louis.

In view of the absorption of the Iowa Central railroad by the Wabash, it is stated that the common stock of the former will be exchanged even for the common stock of the latter.

The Wabash shops of Toledo are now crowded with work. Since last spring six hundred freight cars have been turned out of the shops, and now an order for two hundred more is being rapidly filled.

Toledo Telegram: The number of persons who will go on the cheap Wabash excursion leaving this city for the west on the 9th, has increased to about seventy-five, while at least seventy-five more will join the party at Fort Wayne. Capt. Fowars escorts the party to the west.

The Biewend Divorce Case.

A couple days ago, THE SENTINEL copied an article from the Warsaw Indian expressing views upon the above case. Below is given an article from the Warsaw Republican on the same subject: "We were very much surprised on opening a Fort Wayne paper of recent date to find a statement that Edward F. Biewend's wife had applied in the circuit court in that city, for a divorce from her husband, on the ground of habitual drunkenness and inhuman treatment of her. We know nothing of the circumstances connected with this case, but from our knowledge of Mr. Biewend, we think there must be a mistake somewhere. He has been a resident of this city for several months past, and we have been quite intimate with him, and so far as we have seen, his deportment has always been that of a perfect gentleman and a straightforward reliable business man."

New Wires.

Mr. H. G. Beach, superintendent of telegraph for the eastern division of the Wabash, reports rapid work this season in the extension and enlargement of the telegraph system of his road. Additional wire between Fort Wayne and Lafayette, 110 miles in length, is finished. The lines from Fort Wayne to Toledo have been reconstructed, with 2,000 new poles. A new wire from Bement to St. Louis, 135 miles in length, is now being constructed. A new line of three wires on the Chicago branch of the Wabash, 150 miles in length, is also in process of construction, 26 miles having been completed. Near 1,000 miles of wire, most of which is already up, will be added this season to the eastern division of the Wabash.

AMUSEMENTS.

HI. HENRY.

The citizens of Fort Wayne will lie to the Grand Opera house next Wednesday evening to witness the splendid performance of Hi. Henry's famous minstrel troupe. Those who take the precaution to secure seats before hand, will not be obliged to stand. Those who neglect to do so are liable to get left.

THE OLYMPIC.

This popular place of amusement draws large houses nightly, and the excellent performances given never fail to delight the audiences. A splendid bill will be presented to-night.

STAGE WINSTERS.

The illness of E. A. Southern, the actor, is of a most serious character.

It is quite likely that Adellina Patti will inaugurate the new temple of song to be erected next year in New York City.

It is understood that opera glasses with latitudinally-magnifying lenses are being constructed for the use of theatre goers who wish to see, as well as hear, Mlle. Sara Bernhardt.

Hot For Kansas.

Fare to Ellis, Kansas, and return, $19, first class tickets, and good for forty days, the cheapest fare ever offered. Now is the time to see the great west. ### HULL'S HOUSE.

A Short Sketch of a Successful Business Career.

What Enterprise, Brains and Energy Will Do.

It has been said that every man is the architect of his own fortune and the greater number of our business men who began life with comparatively nothing, are examples of the truth of this assertion.

Of the class of representative men of this city whose road to business success has been hewed out by untiring energy is Mr. L. O. Hull, the widely known proprietor of the Wall Paper and Paint Emporium, at No. 90 Calhoun street. Although quite a young man, he manages the largest business of the kind in this city and one of the largest in the state. He is a thoroughly practical painter himself and is conversant with the most minute details of his business. He became established in 1870 over Barr's livery stable on Court street where the magnificent Foster block now stands. The business at first was small necessarily so by reason of the limited means of Mr. Hull, but by laying down rules of honesty and square dealing and rigidly adhering to them, he slowly but surely built up his business to its present mammoth proportions. He is one of the few men of this city who bravely weathered it through when nothing but adversity surrounded and assailed them, but who finally came out, by dint of perseverance, "right side up with care."

It is to such men that credit is due, and whom the public should patronize. The present quarters occupied by Mr. Hull, on Calhoun street, are admirably adapted to the wants of his particular business, and, after undergoing a variety of changes at his hands, is now the best located and most thoroughly supplied place for such business in this city. The building is a three story brick structure, and presents a handsome appearance from the front. The first floor is filled with a fine imported stock, which is so admirably arrayed that great pleasure is afforded one who inspects it. The second floors are occupied by heavy materials, such as oils, leads, etc., which is by far the largest stock in this city. On the first floor is also to be found the wall paper department, most of the supply complete in every detail. Of the stock of wall paper carried by Mr. Hull we would say that it is the finest in the city, if not in the state. For variety and excellence it is unexcelled, having been purchased with great care, by Mr. Hull and any one contemplating a purchase in this direction will consult their own interests by calling on Mr. Hull. He constantly employs from fifteen to twenty experienced workmen who are under the supervision while engaged in work, of competent foremen. This is a larger force than any house of a similar nature in this city employs. Everything connected with Mr. Hull's establishment is complete. Before concluding this article, which, did space permit, we would willingly lengthen, we would say that Mr. Hull is now closing out his stock of wall paper and artists materials at cost to make room for the finest stock of such materials ever brought within our limits.
